

Basketball Opens

The Waiwakaiho courts saw the gathering of more than fifty basketball teams at the opening of the season. The official opening was performed by the Mayoress of New Plymouth, Mrs D.V.Sutherland, who was accompanied by the Northern Association Officials. Above: Girls assembled on the courts and listened to the speeches. Below: Kathryn Winstanley presents a bouquet to Mrs Sutherland.

Champion Greyhound

Feature race at the Inglewood Greyhound Club's meeting over Easter was the New Zealand Breeders' Stakes, which was won by Brian Boru, a local dog owned by W.I.Cobain, Waitara. Our picture shows Ben Bray, a life member of the Inglewood Greyhound Racing Club, who made the presentations with trainer E.Freeman, and Brian Boru ready to receive the trophy.

HARRIERS v. CYCLISTS

Over a course of something like five miles, the NP harriers raced against members of the NP Cycling Club. In parts the course favoured the harriers and in other parts the cyclists had the better of the deal, but whoever planned the race did a good job since the winner, above, left, harrier John Byrne, just piped cyclist Martin Baker, above, centre, by a matter of yards. The second harrier home, above, right, was Les Purdy. Below, left: Crossing the creek first time round, the harriers were in their element as the cyclists struggled through the mud with the added weight of their machines. Below: One cyclist comes to grief but is soon up again and on his way.

Senior Citizens' Day

The Westown CWI did a wonderful deed when they organised an afternoon for the elderly citizens of NP most of them having come from the various Old People's Homes around our city. A number of items were put on for the large groups of men and women which was enjoyed by all. Left: The oldest person present at the gathering was 98-year-old Grace Cartwright from Turua House. We reckon she doesn't look a day over seventy. Below, centre: Selina Callaghan and Kathleen Casey were two of the ladies who enjoyed the CWI's hospitality. Below, right: Between talking to all her friends, Gladys Savage had time to pause for a smile. Centre, left: Mrs Joyce Holland gave sprays to all those present. Centre, right: Complete with these lovely flower arrangements is Jessie Hanks and Isa Botten. Bottom, left: The only two men present at the function were Harrison Handley and Bill Burton. Bottom, right: Mary Jackson, Olive Williams and Jane Robertson.

About People

Taranaki must be a place of longevity because on this page we have two five generation pictures which is very unusual. Above, left: Back row, grandmother, Mrs Doreen Erueti, and father, Angus Erueti. Front row: great-grandfather, Jack McLeod, and great-great-aunt, Emma Eriwata, holding baby Lara.

Above, right: A happy occasion for Mr and Mrs E.J.Bull, NP, as they cut their anniversary cake at the celebration of their golden wedding. They were married in the United Kingdom and have lived in Taranaki ever since.

Below: The other five generation photo with, from left, great-grandmother, Mrs A.Jones, Inglewood, mother, Mrs S.Miller and baby Tania, grandmother, Mrs B.Lawrence, Inglewood, and great-great-grandmother, Mrs M.Jackson, Midhurst.

Wedding Bells

Above: SHOLTY-HENRY. At the Catholic Church, Stratford, Pamela, fourth daughter of Mr and Mrs C.V. Henry, Stratford, to Stephen Lee, eldest son of Mr and Mrs F.P. Sho'ly, Canada. The bridesmaids were Mavis and Doreen Rumball, Inglewood. The best man was Albert Williams, Huiroa, and the groomsman was Richard Maxwell, Inglewood. Future home, Canada.

Below: DOUBLE WEDDING. WEIR-OAKLEY. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Corinne Louisa, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs J.A. Oakley, NP, to David Allan, eldest son of Mrs D. Weir, NP, and the late Mr A.E. Weir. The bridesmaids were Lorraine Weir, sister of the groom, NP, Pamela Revell, NP, and Sandra Paul, NP. The best man was Ron Payne, NP, and the groomsman was Donald Crossan, NP. Future home, NP.

SUTHERLAND-OAKLEY. Linda Louella, younger daughter of Mr and Mrs J.A. Oakley, NP, to Scott, seventh son of Mr and Mrs T. Sutherland, Masterton. The bridesmaids were Colleen Magon, Warea, Penny Sutherland, sister of the groom, Masterton, and Barbara Fuller, Bunnythorpe. The best man was George Taylor, Warea, and the groomsman was Robin de Ridder, Hillsborough. Future home, Warea.

Above: PETERS-TURCHI. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Morine Hazel, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs J.C. Turchi, NP, to Barry John, fourth son of Mr and Mrs T.H. Peters, NP. The bridesmaids were Gwen Halford and Heather Turchi, sister of the bride, both NP. The groom's attendants were his two brothers, Ray and Steven Peters, both NP. The flower-girls were Judy and Carolyn Peters, sisters of the groom, NP. Future home, Stratford. The guard of honour was formed by the Welbourne Cub Pack.

Below: STREETER-WARD. At St. Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Jennifer, younger daughter of Mr and Mrs T.D. Ward, NP, to Raymond, younger son of Mr and Mrs J. Streeter, NP. The matron of honour was Annette Powell, sister of the bride, NP, and the bridesmaid was Diane Streeter, NP. The best man was Ray Scott, NP, and the groomsman was Ian Rothery, Auckland. Future home, NP.

My Favourite Recipe

SWEET AND SOUR PORK

For those who like a variety in their menus, we thoroughly recommend this gourmet's delight—Sweet and Sour Pork, a real palate-tickler, so much different from the old steak and chops, etc., and for those who have the time to prepare such a meal, they will find the effort well worth while and the possibility that they will have compliments heaped on them by their family and friends. Demonstrating the cooking of this tasty dish is Mrs Hazel Carrington, of Barrett Street, NP, who is an expert with Chinese dishes. When we heard of this, we paid her a visit, complete with camera, to see for ourselves how it is done and to provide you with a delicious recipe. If the old saying of "a short cut to a man's heart is through his stomach" is true, then this recipe can't miss. Left: Taking one cup of rice for every person, wash thoroughly until the water is clear. Cover with cold water, add half a teaspoon of salt, boil without stirring until water evaporates and leave to steam with the lid on. Below, left: Cut the pork along the grain of the meat into $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch squares. Below, centre: Make a fish batter, dip the pork pieces into it and, below, right, fry in cooking margarine until crisp and cooked right through. Bottom, left to right: Slice into a pan, tomatoes, cucumber, onion, pineapple and celery and cook gently being careful not to let this become mushy. Make a sauce of even parts of pineapple juice, tomato sauce, vinegar and a little less soya bean sauce. Pour over vegetable mixture and thicken with a little cornflour.

Now that the main part of preparing sweet and sour pork is over, the important finale to making this exotic dish the most tempting in anyone's repertoire must begin. One of Mrs Carrington's helpful hints to any other Chinese dish enthusiast is to put the cooked pork pieces on slices of stale bread in a pie dish before serving, and this helps to drain off the fat. Left: "I shouldn't be doing this," but we're sure every chef has a taste at some stage of the cooking. Below, left: The rice is put into a dish, leaving a hollow in the middle which acts as a hole for the vegetables, now sufficiently thick with cornflour. Below, centre: A proud moment for Hazel as she puts out the first helping. Below, right: Her husband, Ernie Carrington, seems to think it tastes alright.

Left: A friend of Hazel's, Mrs Naomi Colson, tried the meal with chopsticks and certainly knew how to use them. Right: Naomi and her husband, Colin, had no hesitation when it came to being the first to try this really superb dish.

Hawkes Bay Visitors

Two indoor basketball teams recently travelled from Hawkes Bay to play the NP side in two exciting games at the Star Gym. The Bay returned home after clinching two victories. Above: NP's Terry Hogan tried to keep this one out of the basket, assisted by Peter Morris. Above, right: Terry was a tiger for work on the defence. Below: John Courtney tries to stop a Hawkes Bay shot at goal. Below, right: Hawkes Bay player grabs the ball to stop Peter Morris from scoring.

CHILDREN'S HOUR

At the Anglican Hall, Westown, an average of three hundred children a day attended a children's mission run by St. Chad's Church, NP, with Captain Sutcliffe from the Church Army as their storyteller and bible leader. Above: A small portion of the captivated audience as Captain Sutcliffe, below, tells a fascinating story. Right: At the conclusion of the half-hour lesson, each child joined in a short prayer service. Below, right: Three young lads were willing to answer any question put to them.

Miss Inglewood Contestants

On these two pages are sixteen of the nineteen contestants in the Miss Inglewood Personality Quest, organised by the Inglewood Dramatic Society. Above, left: Patricia Hinz. Above, centre: Lynda Dombroski. Above, right: Anne Dobson. Left: Shirley Jury. Right: Dianne Laursen. Below, left: Kaye King. Below, centre: Christine Johnson. Below, right: Brenda Mumby.

Above, left: Robyn Butler. Above, centre: Marion Maindonald. Above, right: Patricia Drake. Left: Glenice Orr. Right: Jennifer Stanford. Below, left: Leonie Sole. Below, centre: Janet Hunt. Below, right: Joanne Long.

HAPPINESS CLUB BIRTHDAY

One of the various NP clubs whose work should be brought to the attention of all of us is the Happiness Club which held birthday celebrations recently. At the meeting was a representative from the Cancer Society, the Red Cross and the I.H.C. Society, all receiving donations on behalf of the club's band of helpers. Positions of office were also announced. Top and far left: The director from the Auckland Happiness Club gave gifts of thanks to Dorrie Shippey, once again president and the new treasurer, Flo Hancock. Left: Dorrie looked pleased to be cutting the cake. Below, left: Nellie Jennings got a cup for her flower arranging. Below, right: The President's badge is re-pinned on Dorrie. Bottom: Some of the many Happiness Club members.

FUN OF THE FAIR

Probably one of the biggest stalls at the Francis Douglas College Gala Day, was the coconut shy and all the young chaps helped to swell the coffers of the college as they sought to take home a reward for their skill.

??? Whose FACE is this ???

If you are the lucky person whose face appears within the white circle, come in and identify yourself at the "Photo News" office and you will receive a free subscription to "Photo News" for six months.

Wedding Bells

Above: DOMBROSKI-OXENHAM. At the Waitara Catholic Church, Marie Adalene, youngest daughter of Mrs P.J.Oxenham, Waitara, to Chris Robin, second son of Mr and Mrs L.Dombroski, Waitara. The matron of honour was Paula Northcott, Bell Block, and the bridesmaid was Raewyn Shepherd, Hamilton. The best man was Yurik Burczynski, Waitara, and the groomsmen was Michael Dombroski, brother of the groom, Waitara. Future home, Lower Hutt. (VOGUE STUDIOS).

Below: WALLACE-WELLS-THOMSON. At St.Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Heather Jean, third daughter of Mr and Mrs D.W.Thomson, NP, to Ronald Clive, only son of Mrs B.Wallace-Wells, Tirau, and the late Mr C.Wallace-Wells. The matron of honour was Judy Grey, Putaruru, and the bridesmaids were Janet and Jill Thomson, sisters of the bride, NP. The best man was Pat Williams, Tauranga, and the groomsmen were Bryan Grey, Putaruru, and Errol Garry, Tirau. Future home, Tirau.

Left: ORR-GOBLE. At St. Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Myrl, fourth daughter of Mrs A.M.Goble, NP, and the late Mr W.Goble, to Roy, fourth son of Mr and Mrs A.Orr, Te Kuiti. The matron of honour was Lorna Thompson, NP. The best man was Noel Orr, NP. Future home, NP.

Right: CLARK-HENWOOD. At the Methodist Church, Inglewood, Carol Ray, the elder daughter of Mr and Mrs C.R.Henwood, Inglewood, to Malcolm Bruce, youngest son of Mr and Mrs A.B.Clark, Inglewood. The bridesmaids were Sue Frewin, Wellington, and Brenda Mumby, Inglewood. The best man was Kevin Wisniewski, Inglewood, and the groomsmen was Pat Rhodes, Waiouru. Flower-girls were Julie and Dale Peterson, Inglewood. The future home, Waiouru. (NORMAN SQUIRE).

A WITH-IT WINTER

This month, Sports-haven, Currie Street, NP, has supplied the six winter fashions shown on this and the next page and doing these fabulous outfits justice are our two models, Chere Leggett and Raewyn Simpson, both NP. Below: Raewyn, pert and pretty, gets ready for a good night's rest in this blue and white striped short winter nightie complete with smocking across bust and cuffs. Right: Chere models a long winter nightie in pink and white candy stripes with a large pink satin bow setting off ultra-feminine frills.....she'd certainly get breakfast in bed! Below, right: Chere again, this time ready for any occasion in a bright blue culotte suit of pure wool teamed with a white skivvy.

Also available from Sports-haven are these outfits designed especially for the modern miss wanting to be that little bit different from the girl in front. Below: In the finest wool jersey at a price your pocket can afford, Raewyn brings to you a vivid red cape suit with the latest in pants--waisted culottes. It can be teamed up with any form of skinny rib and worn with anything, anywhere. Right: Marsland Hill was the setting for the last of our fashion pictures this month and even though the wind was blowing strongly, Raewyn and Chere were quite warm in these rich orange outfits--one a slim-line pure woollen dress with snug stand-up collar and a double row of buttons, the other a complete set of trousers, high-waisted double-breasted jacket and skirt.

New Zealand Inner Wheel Conference

The Inner Wheel is an international organisation of wives of Rotary Club members and it recently held its first Dominion conference in our city. The meeting was opened by Mrs R.M. Barclay, wife of the MP for NP, at the Holy Trinity Church, Fitzroy. Our picture shows most of the fifty women from as far away as Christchurch who attended the conference. (NORMAN SQUIRE).

NEWPLYMOUTH EASTER CAMP 1969 INTER-DENOMINATIONAL.

A committee made up of members from any church in our district certainly has a worthwhile and highly successful way of keeping children off the streets over the Easter period. It runs an Easter camp for children over the age of eleven years, and this year the camp was situated in camp buildings on the corner of Frankley Road and Clawton Street, NP. Approximately 100 children attended this home away from home with some 40 visitors increasing the number at different times during the five days that the camp was open. This year Mr and Mrs George Adams, NP, were camp mum and dad and under their guidance, those present enjoyed outings, sports and Christian teaching which was the main aim of the committee behind this inter-denominational Easter camp idea. (NORMAN SQUIRE).

Wedding Bells

Above: SYMONS-WOOD. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Pamela Dawn, second daughter of Mr and Mrs E.J. Wood, NP, to Howard Allan, second son of Mr and Mrs A.E.H. Symons, Rahotu. The bridesmaid was Melva Wood, sister of the bride, NP, and the matrons of honour were Marion Edwards, sister of the groom, Lower Hutt, and Elvie Brace, NP. The best man was John Simpson, Opunake, and the groomsmen were Graham and Donald Symons, brothers of the groom, Rahotu. Future home, Palmerston North.

Below: TUBBY-SAUNDERS. At the Whiteley Methodist Church, NP, Judy Ann Saunders, twin daughter of Mr and Mrs K. Hunt, NP, to William Russell, fifth son of Mr and Mrs L.H. Tubby, NP. The bridesmaids were Gail Saunders, twin sister of the bride, Sharon Hunt, sister of the bride, and Lynda Thomas, all NP. The best man was Kevin Cursons, NP, and the groomsmen were Allan Tubby, brother of the groom, and Tim Saunders, brother of the bride, both NP. Future home, NP.

Above, left: CORBETT-HANCOCK. At the Waitara Methodist Church, Joan Mary, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs A.G. Hancock, Lepperton, to Ernest Frank, eldest son of Mr and Mrs R.F.L. Corbett, Waitara. The bridesmaids were Dawn and Nola Hancock, sisters of the bride, Lepperton. The best man was Henry Corbett, brother of the groom, Waitara, and the groomsmen was Neville Hancock, brother of the bride, Stratford. Future home, Brixton.

Above, right: WILLAN-TURNER. At St. Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Betsy Ann, second daughter of Mr and Mrs W. Turner, NP, to Lynton Roger, second son of Mrs Willan, NP. The matron of honour was Janice Battersby, NP. The best man was Gary Fenwick, NP. Future home, Christchurch.

Below: MASON-CROSBY. At the Anglican Church, Eltham, Gloria Elsie, only daughter of Mrs J. Crosby, Eltham, to Rowan, eldest son of Mr and Mrs R.W. Mason, NP. The bridesmaids were Sue Bone, Stratford, Gwen Williams, Eltham, Mary Candy, Stratford, and Caroline Skittrup, Kaponga. The best man was Jim Kilpatrick, Stratford, and the groomsmen were Gordon Kennedy, Stratford, Earle Mason, brother of the groom, Stratford, and Neil Mason, brother of the groom, NP. Future home, Ngaire.

SOFTBALL PRESENTATION

Winding up of the softball season took the form of a social-fancy dress evening at the Railway Hall when members of all teams in the association attended a very successful gathering. Above, left: Patron Jo Wetzel presents the competition shield to Joyce Shippey. Above, right: Two revellers who faced our camera certainly seemed to be enjoying the evening. Below, left: Ken McDonald, ready for bed, receives another trophy from Jo. Below, right: Christine and her partner were two more who enjoyed themselves. Bottom, left: Ken and Maureen McDonald. Bottom, right: Some of the colts team. From left: Bulah Woodcock, Beverley Lamb, Joyce Shippey, Margaret Mills and Norma Russell.

CLASSROOM ON WHEELS

Mrs A.Carson's class of Spotswood primary pupils was busy recently planning for a trip to as far away as Dannevirke which, by the time this issue is published, they will have completed. In conjunction with this, Traffic Officer D.Skiffington gave the children first class instructions on the correct behaviour when on a bus trip such as this. Above: The children learnt a great deal in just a short but valuable lesson. Below, left: Miss Rangl Ruapapere, another teacher at the school, taught the class a haka to perform while staying with their many billeting families at the schools en route. Below, right: Vaughan Childs thanked Mr Skiffington on behalf of the class. Bottom: Our picture shows the class's "teko teko" which will hang from the back of the bus.

Congrats Inglewood W.D.F.F.

Yet another WDFF function to be attended and thoroughly enjoyed by a large gathering was the Inglewood branch 40th birthday. Apart from the awarding of badges and gifts, the WDFF had a wonderful entertainment programme included in the many afternoon celebrations. Left: Our camera caught Eileen Cartwright in the middle of a parcel game. Below, left: President of the Division, Pearl Bennett, gave Thelma Bungay a farewell gift. Below, centre: The only honours badge to be presented was this one pinned on Maud Dickson by Pearl. Below, right: Some very good songs were rendered by Dorothy Parkes. Bottom, left: The North Taranaki Provincial President, Mrs Naomi Colson, was asked to cut the cake. Bottom, right: Four foundation members are, from left, Daisy Bennett, Nancy Bennett, Irene Crush and Isobel Winter.

The main part of the Inglewood WDFF birthday celebrations was the hilarious sketch performed by four of the Division members. It took the form of a hospital operation but because of the unusual articles the "doctor" found, there must be another word to describe it. Left: One of the many "finds" was a sheep's heart but the most unusual was, below left, causing much merriment among the large audience. Below, centre: There are certainly no modest WDFF members at Inglewood. Here we witnessed a parade of bathing beauties perhaps not in the most modern mould but enjoyable to watch just the same. Below, right: Already for a summer day's outing is Win Austin. Bottom, left to right: Oma Lock in a more up-to-date swimsuit. Doreen McLintock goes back a few years to the 1920 era. Nellie Clark complete with shower cap, and Pearl Bennett looking more ready for bed than the beach...must be a play suit of some sort!

Wedding Bells

Above: BRETT-WALKER. At the Awatuna Presbyterian Church, Wendy Ann, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs D.S.G.Walker, Awatuna, to Graham Allen, youngest son of Mr and Mrs W.N.Brett, NP. The bridesmaids were Elinor Leatherbarrow, NP, Judy Walker, sister of the bride, Awatuna, and Marie Brett, sister of the groom, NP. The best man was Dennis Young, NP. Future home, NP.

Below: SANDFORD-WELHAM. At St.Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Megan Jennifer, only daughter of Mr and Mrs H.J.B.Welham, NP, to Christopher John, only son of Mr and Mrs D.H.Sandford, NP. The bridesmaids were Celia Connor, NP, and Megan McFaddin, Auckland. The best man Tom Young, NP and the groomsmen was Jim Welham, brother of the bride, NP. Future home, NP.

CAVE EXPLORERS

Since the formation of the Taranaki Caving Club, many new caves in Taranaki have been discovered and explored. The cave in which these pictures were taken is on the Mangaoronga Road up over the Maohoenui Hills. Some very fine formations were discovered, much to the joy of the members. Above: One find was an old skull, believed to be over 200 years old--quite a frightening thing to find! Above, right: Club president Philip Allen with a fine formation of stalactites. Below: Rick Neville and John Payne find two separate holes to explore.

