New Plymouth's Bride of the Year

Forty-seven newly wed brides recently faced a capacity audience at the St. Joseph's Youth Centre for the annual Soroptomist Club's Bride of the Year contest. It certainly was a sight for the female audience and a job when it came to voting. Here are the three placegetters in this very popular contest. At left, Jane Malcolm (nee Lamplough) was placed second. The winner, centre, was Raewyn MacKenzie (nee Lambert), and third place went to Lana Parker (nee Tawhiri).

OUR COVER

Take your choice! What do you like best, mini or maxi? Think perhaps the mini has a little more appeal, and affords the menfolk a bit of eye-exercise, though the maxi would be a boost for our wool industry. Each has its advantages, maxi perhaps for the winter, and the mini for the summer, if we ever get any! Anyhow, they make a nice cover, with Jillian Capper in the maxi and Ann Meyer in the mini, photographed at Brooklands Park among the spring flowers.

BACK COVER—Another view of the port area, showing what used to be a nice little beach. This area was popular, and was used a lot by the surfers but is now filled in to make room for more industry at the port. Such is progress!

21st BIRTHDAY—Left: Mrs Patricia Crawford, daughter of Mr and Mrs Pickett, who recently celebrated her coming of age. (Norman Squire).

SECOND CHIMNEY—Below: This photograph of the power station site clearly shows the base of the second chimney. The first one, laid some time ago, is not now needed since a new type and cheaper chimney is to take its place. As can be seen, the new one is a lot smaller in circumference.

Eltham's Teen Princesses

In an effort to raise funds for a recreation and sports centre in Eltham, there has been quite a bit of competitive fund-raising within the town recently. One such was the baby contest. Now there's a teen princess contest on, and here are the seven entrants for the title. They were presented to the public for the first time recently.

ABOVE—21-month-old Dellwyn Mumby was announced winner of the baby competition at Eltham recently. She was awarded her prize following the announcement by Mrs H. J. Drabble, Mayoress of Eltham, who is shown LEFT, with Dellwyn's mother on the left. ABOVE RIGHT—Second in the contest was Julie Probyn, shown here with her mother. RIGHT—Third place went to Corina Ngati, held by her mother Christine to receive her trophy. BELOW LEFT—Linda Barraclough and mother Leonie, another entrant in the contest. BELOW CENTRE—Mrs Doreen McKay with son Ken who was also an entrant. BELOW RIGHT—Third placegetter, Corina, pictured with her mother Mrs Christine Ngati.

During the evening that they announced the winner of the baby contest, and introduced the seven princesses, the organisers of the show provided a good variety programme of local artists. We have seen many such concerts, but few with so much talent. The whole thing went with a swing, and was, we feel sure, enjoyed by all. TOP—The Eltham Maori Club provided a good bracket of items, with the spirit of young people doing their best for the large audience. ABOVE LEFT—Clare and Dean Crafar, a brother and sister act, were as good as any we've seen in the province. ABOVE RIGHT—Shona and Lorraine How, with their aunt Betty How, also gave items enjoyed by all. BELOW LEFT—Here was another very musical combination. It was the accordion band from Toko and district. BELOW RIGHT—Also on this variety programme were Diane and Jocelyn Vickers, tap dancers.

VOGELTOWN T.T.C. CABARET

Great night at the Vogelstown School Hall for members of the local Table Tennis Club when they held their cabaret. Attendance was well up to expectations, and it would be right to say that a good time was had by all. TOP LEFT—Bev Tancred bursts in on Julie and Rusty Gyde . . . lucky man! TOP RIGHT—Four of the bhoys: Graeme McDowell, Ross Elgar, Kasper Steiner and Graham Thompson. ABOVE LEFT—Everybody happy except one bloke! ABOVE RIGHT—Another happy group of young people enjoying themselves. BELOW LEFT—Shona and Peter Jordan. BELOW CENTRE—Doris and Lloyd McDowell. BELOW RIGHT—Colleen and Peter Putt (Vogue Studio Candids).

Taranaki Boxing Champs

With seventy bouts to witness, one can only say that the local sports fans were provided with a feast of fighting, many of which were of a very high standard, and with the provincial championship at stake, much more seems to be put into the bouts. It was a great tournament, with good, and sometimes great contestants. ABOVE—S. Hayles, Stratford, throws a straight right to the face of T. Tamai, Hastings. The visitor won by a TKO. BELOW—L. Jensen, Manaia, sits on the ropes while being beaten on points by J. Newbury, Te Kuiti. ABOVE RIGHT—T. Phelan, Manaia, and M. Lichwark, Hamilton (light vest), had a great bout before the visiting boxer was given the verdict on points. RIGHT—B. Barlow, Midhirst (light vest), beat B. Barr, Wellington. BELOW RIGHT—Peter O'Donnell, Oakura, and D. Bailey, Eltham, had one of the best bouts of the evening.

Engagements

Over 80 Teams In Closing Netball Tourney

Over 80 teams from all parts of Taranaki recently took part in the closing day tournament at the Waiwakaiho courts. The tourney, starting early in the morning, and played in not too brilliant weather, didn't finish until late in the afternoon. It is a tribute to the organisers that so many teams can be accommodated on the courts, for a tournament which was run both efficiently and smoothly. Pictured on this page are shots of the United-Star game, one of the few games held in fine weather.

STUDENT ART

Showing at present in the museum is a fine array of local student art. These are entries in a local competition for school children, and we feel that we must say how refreshing this art was. Even those paintings which were more or less abstract had a meaning, more than we can say for some we've seen locally. This would be a feather in the cap of the Education Board's art expert.

EXERCISE

Search and Rescue members recently held an exercise at the top of Mangorei Road, just under the mountain, and they had the aid of an Army helicopter for this particular piece of training. Here, the chopper takes off back to New Plymouth at the completion of the exercise.

Oakura Fancy Dress

Popular as ever was the Oakura School fancy-dress party held in the local hall recently. Here are just a few of the youngsters who paraded in their colourful costumes. ABOVE, from left: Brent Deakin, Sandra Brooking, Steven Looney, Christopher Parkinson and Caroline Boon. BELOW, from left: Vicki Looney, Connie Johnsen, Marylin McGregor, Kevin Grey, Mark Payne and Joey Johnson.

Items Of Interest

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

Rather unique, though they've been going on for the past 22 years, are the wedding anniversaries of Mark and Violet Bennett, New Plymouth, ABOVE LEFT, who have just completed 46 years of wedded bliss, and their daughter and son-in-law, Desiree and Kingsley Perkins, who celebrated their 22nd anniversary on the same day. Best of luck and good health to you all. (Vogue Studios).

$500 WIN

21st BIRTHDAY

Shipwrecked Cubs

The West End Cub pack recently staged, as a change from their usual Cub night, a shipwrecked night. It was a great time for the boys, who had done their best to look as scruffy as they possibly could. RIGHT—Leader Mrs Irene Clyma makes an inspection of her charges. BELOW—All the leaders of the pack joined in the fun, and dressed shipwreck fashion. BELOW RIGHT—Dishing out the rewards. BOTTOM—These are the scruffiest of the lot, and pose for a picture for posterity.

Auckland Firemen Doused

Not only is fire fighting a long suit with the local New Plymouth boys, they're pretty good at football too. They played their annual match against the Auckland brigade at Sanders Park, in bad weather too, and we thought they went particularly well. Mind you, they were starting to weaken towards the finish, but they managed to hang on until the final whistle. Here are a few pictures we took at this game.

GIRLS' HIGH BALL

With a crowd of something like 500, the annual sixth form ball at the Girls' High in the city can only be called successful. For the girls, along with their invited boy friends, plus parents and staff, this evening was undoubtedly the highlight of the school year, socially. A lot of the girls wore the dresses that they had made at school, and took part in a mannequin parade, pictured elsewhere in this issue. Altogether a great time for the pupils, as the photographs on this page show. (Photos by Norman Saurer)

The Riverside Women's Bowling Club recently celebrated its silver jubilee with a luncheon and get-together at the club pavilion, when members past and present attended what was a really enjoyable afternoon of reminiscing. ABOVE—At the top table were Edith Murch, a foundation member, Maud Hines, the centre president, and the Mayor of New Plymouth, Mrs D. V. Sutherland. ABOVE RIGHT—President Nell Giddy welcomes the guests. BELOW—Treasurer Josie Nichols and secretary Bessie Hewitt sat together. BOTTOM LEFT—Pat Verry and Mabel Parry. CENTRE—Life member Rose Honeyfield had the honour of cutting the cake. BOTTOM CENTRE—Bonnie Paynter and Queenie Coulter. ABOVE RIGHT—Eve Palmer and Winifred Shaw. CENTRE RIGHT—Oldest playing member, Mabel Mavor. BOTTOM RIGHT—IPP Ena Cox gets a spray from Bessie Hewitt.

HIPPY DO

The St. Margaret's Bible Class kids come up with some novel ideas. The latest was a hippy dinner, and really good it was too. The place seems to draw more young people every time we go to a function — must be some sound organisation somewhere. ABOVE—Linda Gally took the akkers at the door. BELOW—Jean Moffat scrapes the pots . . . what for, Jean? ABOVE RIGHT—Three feeders get into the tucker. RIGHT—Happy group of diners. From left: Christine Allen, Linda McMahon, Christine Hamilton, Judie Day and Marian Pound. BELOW RIGHT—Karen Ericson, Susan McKenzie and Helen Manning race through their first course to be first in the queue for "seconds".

Some of the young people of the St. Margaret's Bible Class at their hippy function had wonderful appetites. In fact they lapped up everything that was offering and the cooks were left with almost clean pots, so well had they done their job of eating. Of course, we know what they did after the meal. They played mini-olympics that caused endless fun and riots with the kids. What a wonderful way to spend a Saturday evening! We congratulate the organisers. TOP LEFT—Rev and Mrs Mudie, to whom a lot of the credit must go. TOP RIGHT—Plenty of help when it came to serving the lovely food. ABOVE LEFT—Beverley Tatham looks for a corner where she can eat her dinner. ABOVE RIGHT—Three hungry bods — first in the queue for everything: Grant Gally, Malcolm Rowe and Mark Mudie.

MISS INGLEWOOD 1970

What a great night it was for the crowning of Miss Inglewood, 1970! The Old Folk's Hall at Inglewood was crowded for this night with a distinctive Scottish flavour, both liquid and solid. With thirteen lovely girls, the contestants for the title, mingling with the large crowd, it was a most informal occasion — perhaps one of the best "do's" we've been to for a long time. Anyway, here we present ten of the girls. These were the also rans, without whom there would be no contest. ABOVE, from left: Valda Marshall, Judi Woodward, Vivienne Topping and Nancy Wilson. LEFT—Anne Loveridge. RIGHT—Mirk Old. BELOW, from left: Carole Wilson, Catherine Higgins, Beverley Jury and Lynette Austin.

RIGHT—First three placegetters in the recent Miss Inglewood 1970 contest. At left is Joanne Johnson who was second, in the centre is the winner, Judith Smith, and on the right Sue Barriball who came third. BELOW—Last year's Miss Inglewood makes sure she has pinned the sash on right way round after the announcement. BELOW RIGHT—The three judges listen to the MC as he talks to the gathering. BOTTOM LEFT—Piping in the haggis, and what an event that was! BOTTOM RIGHT—Yes madam this is what is called a haggis, but we can't tell you what is in it!

Left: THOMPSON—GUNDESON. At the Robe Street Gospel Hall, NP, Janice, twin daughter of Mr and Mrs D. R. Gundeson, NP, to Maurice, son of Mrs E. Thompson, Wellington. The matron of honour was Ann Aish, sister of the bride, Inglewood, and the bridesmaids were Lois Gundeson, twin sister of the bride, NP, and Lynette Brooking, NP. Best man was Dennis Walker, Morrinsville, and the groomsmen were Paul Gundeson, brother of the bride, NP, and Neville Saville, Morrinsville. Future home, New Plymouth. (Vogue Studio).

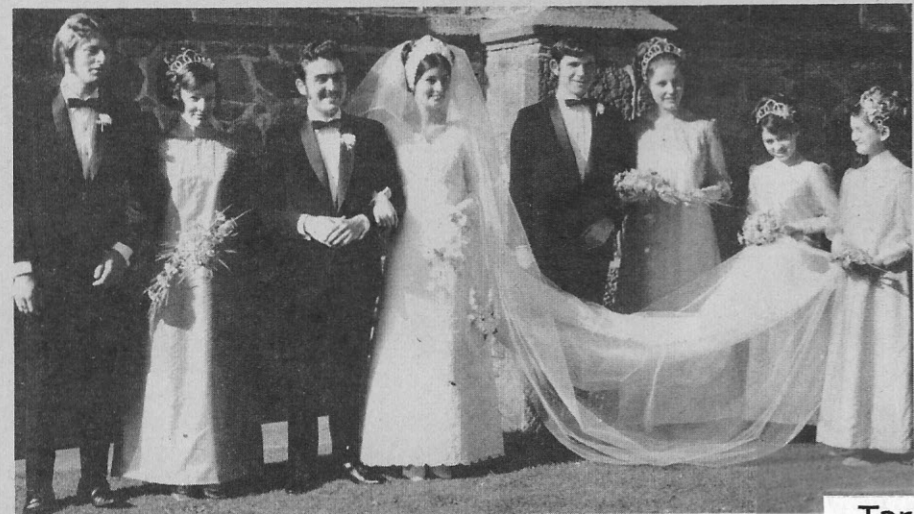

Left: IPSEN—WATERS. At the foyer of the NP War Memorial Hall, Jill, only daughter of Mr and Mrs E. J. Waters, Waitara, to Bruce, son of Mr A. C. Ipsen, Auckland. The bride's attendants were Dianne Sager and Lois Ipsen, sister of the groom, both of Auckland. Best man was Peter Ipsen, brother of the groom, and the groomsman was Lusi Lafaitale, both of Auckland. Future home, Auckland. (Norman Squire).

Married

Right: WALLACE—NIXON. At St. Philomena's Catholic Church, NP, Dianne May, second daughter of Mr and Mrs R. E. R. Nixon, NP, to Alan Frederick, younger son of Mr and Mrs I. W. Wallace, NP. Matron of honour was Verena Currie, Auckland, and the bridesmaids were Susan Olson, NP, and Colleen Nixon, sister of the bride, NP. Best man was Dennis McLean, NP, and the groomsman was Barry Whipp, Wellington. Future home, New Plymouth.

Right: INGLE—HIDE. At the Fitzroy Catholic Church, Pamela, third daughter of Mr and Mrs A. Hide, Waitara, to Patrick, son of Mr R. L. Ingle, NP. The bridesmaids were Barbara Hide, sister of the bride, Waitara, and Kathy Dravitski, NP. Best man was Michael McLafferty, Auckland, and the groomsman was John Ingle, brother of the groom, NP. The flower-girl was Erin Mahon, Tariki. Future home, Wellington. (Norman Squire).

Left: HEKE—MUNDELL. At St. Mary's Anglican Church, NP, Sharon Isabel, only daughter of Mr and Mrs R. L. Mundell, NP, to Paul Richard, the eldest son of Mr R. N. Heke, NP. The bridal attendants were Helen Blackman, NP, Vicki Simonsen, NP, Eraine and Charmaine Heke, sisters of the groom, NP. Best man was Graham Clouston, NP, and the groomsman was Lester Mundell, brother of the bride, NP. Future home, Ohura.

Left: BRYANT—TIPPETT. At St. David's Presbyterian Church, Manaia, Diane Mary, daughter of Mr and Mrs P. A. Tippett, Manaia, to James Michael, son of Mr and Mrs J. P. Bryant, Manaia. The bride's attendant was Glenda Nickel, Wellington, and the best man was Graeme Champion, Manaia. Future home, Manaia. (David Paul).

REAL MUSICAL TREAT

You can always guarantee good entertainment at Highlands School, and this was the case when the New Plymouth City Band recently conducted the first of a series of members' evenings at the school. The band and the pupils combined to give a crowded hall some of the best musical entertainment. We just stood and watched, enthralled by the ease with which the children performed, and the way everything seemed so informal. This kind of evening should be repeated often, and advertised more, for we feel sure that this type of programme is far more entertaining than an evening in front of the goggle box. ABOVE—Pupils performed an excerpt from "Mary Poppins" so well that we could have seen it all over again and still enjoyed it. BELOW—The choir just loved performing with the city band providing the accompaniment. Do we spy one of the girls with a moustache?

ABOVE—Ernie Ormrod conducted the school brass, and what a fine job they made of it, combining in their last number with the City band. RIGHT—Start of the concert was a skit where the band came on stage in driblets and drabs, and poor old Lionel Hall just had no control over the band. A good comedy number enjoyed by all. BELOW—Here's one of the players in the Mary Poppins excerpt, passing through the audience, and you can see just how packed the hall was.

KICKS AND MISS KICKS

Girls from the Taranaki newspapers and Savings Banks recently did battle at Lynmouth Park. The game they were supposed to be playing was soccer. You'd never have known it though. The crowd on the sideline was very gentle with the remarks too, and the ref, well he was definitely a ladies' man, as foul followed foul. It's a good idea to play these games on a Sunday, but it was obvious that some had been partying the night before! Still it was a game enjoyed by all. ABOVE—Blow up, ref, that's a foul if ever we saw one! BELOW—There, they're at it again! ABOVE RIGHT—Coo, look at that! Your dribbling isn't too good! RIGHT—TSB forward line, almost like a fashion parade. BELOW RIGHT—Left-footer eh? BOTTOM RIGHT—The TNL goalie got this away alright. Hey, where did you get those fancy pants?

Right ho band, I'm ready!

Now look at those mischievous bandsmen - I'll show them who's the boss.

So You Want To Be A Conductor?

Ever thought what it would be like to conduct a band? This is just what happened at the recent members' evening of the City Band. Two people, a young boy, Christopher Kirk, and Mrs Maureen Chivers were the guest conductors. We thought they made a first-class job of it. And the audience gave them generous applause for their efforts. Of course these two were hand-picked by Ernie Ormrod and Lionel Hall, pictured at left. They had a long confab before making their choice, which turned out to be a good one. RIGHT—Lionel shows Christopher Kirk how to handle the baton, and after this there was no holding him.

This is a serious business, boys, and I want no fooling around.

OK men, I'm ready, cut out the laughing!

Right Ernie, I've got the hang of things now.

Guest conductor Maureen at work

BELL BLOCK RALLY

The ninth annual rally of the Bell Block W.D.F.F. attracted fourteen branch entries for this very popular event. The theme of the courts for this year was Brides' Day, and with a theme like this you can bet that the women of the W.D.F.F. got to work and produced what could only be described as masterpieces. We are only pleased that the judging wasn't to be done by us — it would have been a mammoth task. ABOVE—This bevy of Bell Block W.D. belles was referred to as the kitchen staff. They certainly worked as hard as beavers! RIGHT—Three members of the Brixton branch, winners of the competition, were Joan Chisnell, Mary Fussell and Olga Zimmerman. BELOW LEFT—Brixton member takes the winner's cup from Mrs Naomi Colson, president of the NT W.D.F.F. BELOW RIGHT—The Bell Block branch won the banner. Here are the members responsible: Dorothy Wood, Clem Cullen, Vaire Fastier and Margaret Ritter.

LIFE MEMBERS

ABOVE—Three of the original members of the Taxis Dart Club were recently honoured with life membership of the club. Here they are being presented with their badges of life membership. Jack Webster, vice-president of the TDA, left, made the presentations. The recipients were, from left, Ron and Noel Barriball and Les Tunnicliffe.

Firemen Receive Commendations

Presentations to members of the New Plymouth Fire Brigade were recently made at a social function at the station. Two Queen's Commendations for bravery were presented to two members of the brigade for their part in the rescue of two men trapped in a trench cave-in recently. Other service awards were made during the evening. ABOVE LEFT—The Mayor of New Plymouth, Mr D. V. Sutherland, presents the Queen's Commendation to Station Officer T. Sampson. ABOVE RIGHT—Fireman D. Weir also received this high award. RIGHT—A presentation was also made to Fireman and Mrs Bert Squire. Bert is leaving the brigade and joining the fire police. BOTTOM—Service awards completed the formal part of the evening.

N.P.B.H.S. INTERACT PROJECT

There was a lot of work done by the Boys' High Interact Club for the benefit of all the school, in re-terracing round their swimming pool. It was a big job for the boys and they worked hard at it during every spare minute they had. ABOVE—Here is the first rung of the terrace being put in, with everyone taking a hand at the work. RIGHT—The "easy" job of carting and mixing the cement was carried out by Warren Tatham and Ian Holyoake.

ARE THEY DOOMED?

These cottages down on Ngamotu Beach, inhabited at the moment, are in the news. There's talk of pulling them down — yet another step in the progress at Port Taranaki. It is inevitable that progress is on the march down at the port and many changes will yet take place before the present job is completed.

N.P.'s BRIDE OF THE YEAR

Once again, this very popular Soroptomist-organised contest got the support it deserved. The venue for this year's contest was the new St. Joseph's Youth Centre, and it was packed to capacity. With forty-seven lovely brides and thirty bridesmaids on view, plus a fashion parade, the night was definitely for the ladies, and from what we heard they did enjoy this popular evening. ABOVE LEFT—Parading before the large audience with that winning smile was the bride of the year, Raewyn McKenzie. ABOVE CENTRE—Reward from a proud husband for the winner. ABOVE RIGHT—Four of the thirty maids. From left: Diane Olson, Glennys Johns, Marie Schrider and Lois Magon. BELOW, from left: Sonja Revell, Diane O'Brien, Barbara Radford and Valerie Hollard.

Colour for the Bride of the Year evening was provided by the bridesmaids. With dresses in every colour imaginable, the maids looked every bit as attractive as the brides. This would have been a great place for a prospective bride to get ideas for her own wedding outfits. Not only were the maids so colourful, but also the flower girls and page boys. ABOVE, from left, are some of the many bride's attendants who paraded before the judges: Kris Geary, Dianne Smith, Shona Rosser, Margaret Klenner, and Susan Menzies. BELOW LEFT—Here are a group of the flower-girls and page boys who were part of this very colourful pageant, so well organised and spectacular. BELOW—Some of the bridesmaids receive their instructions from Erica Lagore, a member of the Soroptomist Club, who had done much in the organisation of this evening.

ODE TO THE HAGGIS

(Apologies to Robert Burns).
(Also to Jock Colquhoun the ode-ist).

Pictures taken at the Miss Inglewood show recently.

What is to be will be

"Well, it looks alright."

These are the little folk we saw in our dreams after over-indulgence in the haggis . . . too much oatmeal we think!

Come closer lady, it won't bite you!

Is there a doctor in the house?

You've just got to have a sharp, sorry, very sharp knife!

A quick incision and the mystery is solved, or is it?

This isn't caused by eating haggis lady, so hoe in!
