

The Beach in Winter

We decided to take a look at the beach one cold winter's day, about four weeks back. To our surprise we found that the beach was a hive of activity — well almost. What we did see was a fine display of surfing along with one lone girl swimmer (she actually appeared to be enjoying her dip) and a few who were happily lazing in the sand. It wasn't long before we trained our cameras to bring you this coverage of 'The Beach in Winter'

Some were content to lie in the sun, oblivious to all and sundry.

And one lone bikini clad girl swimmer.

Cutting across a good sized wave before she breaks.

Gliding in to shore

Catching a small wave this board rider gets a good ride.

Like we said before, the water was full of activity.

A Surfer rides a wave to it's limit, leaving behind another who has 'wiped out'.

PATRICK CARGILL IS COMING HERE

Thursday 16th of October will see yet another well known British actor, Patrick Cargill, in the Opera House at New Plymouth.

The appearance is part of an extensive New Zealand tour by Cargill which starts in Invercargill on September 24th and winds up in Auckland on November 3rd.

Patrick Cargill will be very well remembered by New Zealand Television viewers. He will of course be best remembered for his role in 'Father Dear Father' which achieved considerable popularity here.

Supporting acts on the show include Bridgette Allen, Steve Allen and Gray Bartlett.

The surprise of the show will undoubtedly be that of 'H.G. Wells' — an enormous St Bernard dog who is associated with Patrick Cargill in the 'Father Dear Father' series.

It goes almost without saying that the promoters can expect a Full House in New Plymouth for this show and in fact at most venues throughout New Zealand. Cargill is at present on an extended tour of Australia at which the 'Full House' sign is almost always displayed.

TWO GOOD SINGLES

Two new singles have been released this month by local singers.

The first is by Laurie Dee whom we have seen on many teenage music shows over the past twelve months. This started with Free Ride, led to Sing and now he is about to host a new Musical program called 'Goodtime Show'. Laurie's new single is in the big ballad field for which his voice is so suited. It is called 'My Love and I'.

Erana Clark also has released a new single. Erana will first be remembered for her appearance on a touring overseas show a couple of years ago. Since then she has blossomed into a first rate entertainer who is often seen on television, as a support act on tours and as feature singer at many functions.

Like we said two years back... "She has a very big future ahead of her"... We think that she has only started and that much more will be heard from Erana in the future. Her new single is called 'Angel Eyes' and is my fave single of the month.

NEW ALBUMS

JOHN HANLON...Higher Trails.....Family 226
Album of the month is definitely John Hanlon's new one. The Hanlon magic is evident on almost all of the tracks. It can only be described as a great album and while I found that it didn't have the instant appeal of his previous work, it certainly grows on you the more you hear of it. More kudos to John.

CHARLEY PRIDE.....Charley.....RCA 1-1038
After the tremendous New Zealand tour by Pride, it is reasonable to expect a big upswing in his record sales. To cater for this, RCA have just released a new album. The fare offered is well up to the Pride standard and those who enjoy his material will not be disappointed. A good LP for country fans.

THE GUESS WHO.....Power in the Music.....RCA 1-0995
It seems to happen in the career of most successful groups and Guess Who are now, no exception. There has been a change of membership. What we have left is the singer and drummer. The others have left and with them has gone the power of their sound. What is left is at this stage a weak imitation of the original.

RAGANOK.....Revolution 1002
Solid rocking sounds from a very competent New Zealand group who make their record debut with this album.

The group consists of four guys and a chick whom it can be honestly said, make good music in a solid rocking bag which certainly sets the listener on side with the band.

RUGBY

Two matches between Taranaki and the King Country were played at Waitara last month. The first match of the day is pictured on this page and was between Under 16 teams.

The second match of the day between King Country and Taranaki, played at Waitara, was between Under 18 years, teams.

Pictures from this match appear on this page while the earlier match is pictured on the facing page.

Mikado

Every second year the Inglewood High School stage a musical production.

This year the School's production was Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado". The show ran for a three night season and was staged at the School's Assembly Hall. A good attendance (predominantly parents) was noted.

'Ko-Ko' (Malcolm McEwen) the Lord High Executioner of Japan.

Costuming was excellent and credit in large quantity was heaped in that department.

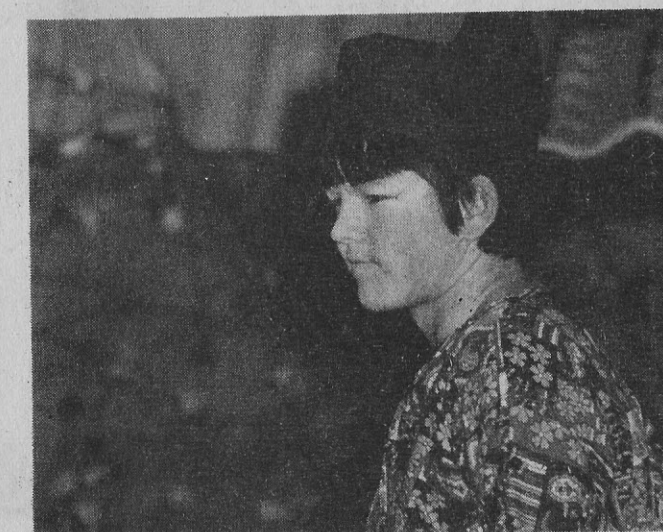

Three wards of 'Ko-Ko'— Yum Yum, Pitti Sing and Peep Bo.

'Poo-Bab' — the Lord High Everything Else.

Raewyn Chitty took the part of 'Katisba'.

'Pish Tush' was acted by Hugh Wilson

With most of the cast on stage it was indeed a colourful sight.

A Patea player falls and the ball is all Clifton's.

Two players fall, but the ball falls free and into the waiting arms of a Patea player.

RUGBY

PATEA v. CLIFTON

One of the most exciting Rugby games at a club level, that we have witnessed this season was a match between Patea and Clifton at Rugby Park in New Plymouth.

The match was one of fast action all the time with plenty of loose play and many determined attacks by both sides. While Clifton won the match 16 to 13, they were lucky to do so.

Dinner

Members of the New Plymouth Aero Club, together with friends, attended the club's annual dinner at the Bell Block Hotel a few weeks ago. Later in the evening the club's trophies were presented, but unfortunately we were unable to stay for that part of the function.

NETBALL

TARANAKI v. FIJI

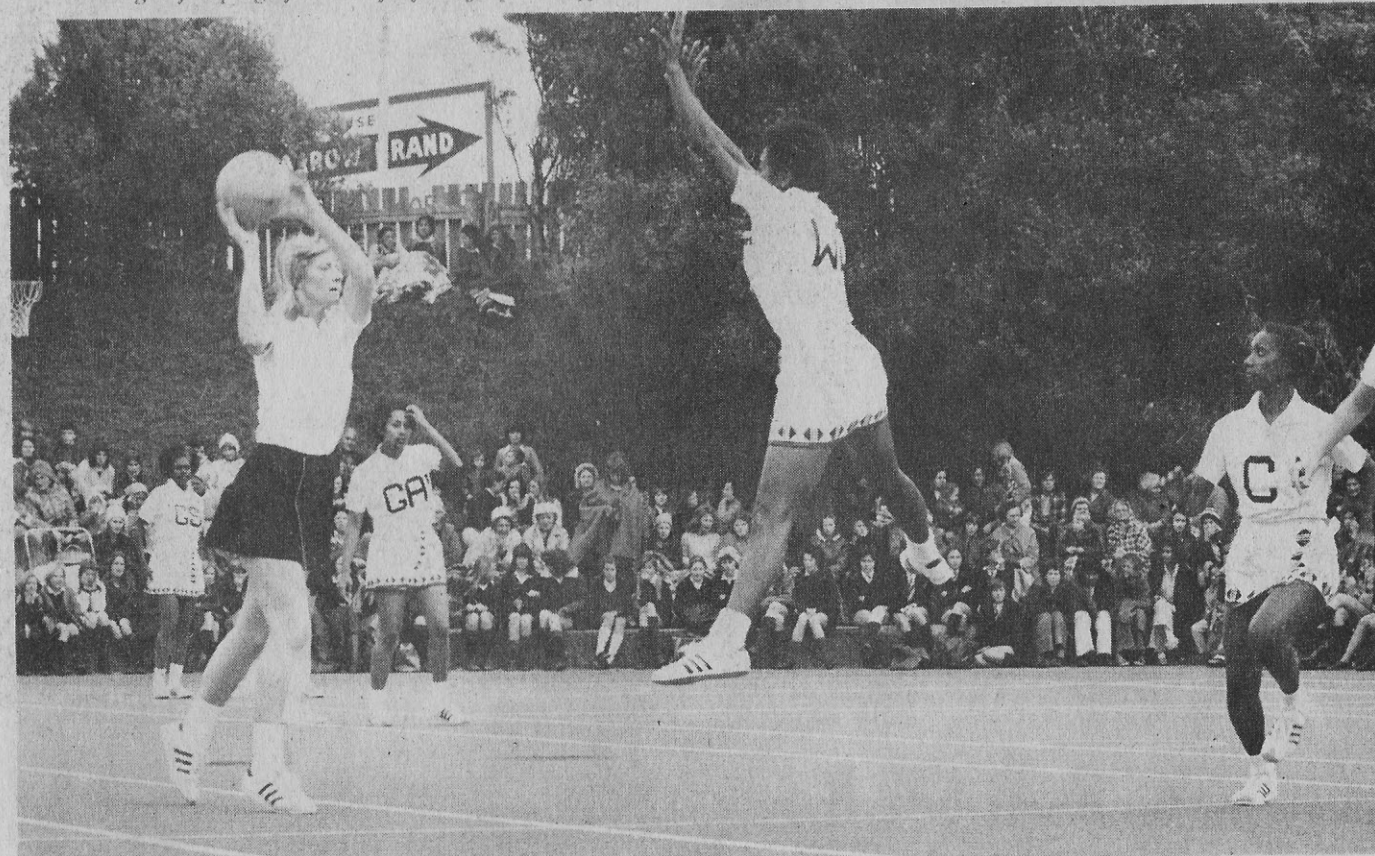

Taranaki had the game almost to itself for the first three quarters of the match. It was not until the final quarter that spectators saw the touring Fijian team start to outscore Taranaki but by that time it was too late and the local team had notched up too big a lead. The final score went to Taranaki with a win of 45 to 32.

Gondoliers

Stratford High School's annual production this year was Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers". The show was staged for three nights in the school's Assembly Hall and for two nights at the Civic Theatre in Eltham. It was at the latter venue that we caught up with the show and took these pictures.

Prior to the show — Sally Hughes and Michelle Hicks.

Plenty of grease paint and colour — W. Caldwell.

Conversation before curtain call — Rhonda Mischewski and Alan Harris.

Make up time with Ruth Morrison and Shelly-Anne Webby.

The production was full of song.

This was an excellent show with good continuity and a colourful wardrobe.

'TUN WAITE'

from the paperback BUY ME A BEER written by TREVOR CRABTREE and soon to be published by Annabel Publications.

Bracken fern and dead Manuka hardly impeded the downward rush of the Ford utility truck. The left mudguard crumpled against an inoffensive Cabbage Tree. Underneath a rock tore the sump free of the motor block. Lurching into another the vehicle slewed sideways and came to a stop inches from a sheer drop above a watercourse. A fat round face appeared above the dashboard.

"I was only trying to stop you getting the bun I dropped," the owner muttered to the dog entangled among various pieces of this and that now reposing on the cab floor. Tun Waite had arrived in the Patoka district of Hawkes Bay. 'Tun', so named because as one man put it, "He not only looks like a huge barrel, his head is just as empty."

Fifty metres above on the Hawkeston road a car pulled up as Tun clambered out of the wreck followed by a very relieved retriever.

"Hey are you alright?" called a voice from above.

"I'm O.K. wait till I get my pack and I'll come up, you can give us a ride."

He pulled a pack which must have weighed at least a cwt. from the truck deck and started through the fern to the road.

"Isn't that the rabbiters truck mate?"

"Yer I'm the new man. Would you give us a lift to the house?"

"Sure but if that's where you're going what are you doing on this road? You should have turned left six miles back."

Tun shrugged his shoulders. "Was going to but this road looked better to ride on. I hate rough roads."

The car owner blinked once or twice then carefully changed the subject. "Hop in and we'll get going. You will want to ring your boss about the wreck."

It's a sad fact of life that rabbiters are often looked upon as nothing more than born killers. Tun was to be no exception. In the first week he was rung twice to put down as polite people request, pets. Then came the third enquiry.

"Bill Stotter speaking. I've got a diseased cow to finish off. Could you come over in the morning and shoot it for me?"

Tun shifted his mouthful of dinner to a more equitable position and glared at the mouthpiece. "Orrite run it inna yard an' I'll be over at 9 o'clock."

Next morning he arrived with his 22 calibre rifle and a few rounds of ammunition. The farmer nervously asked if a higher calibre weapon might not be more efficient. Tun looked at him and slowly said, swallowing his peppermint to do so. "If you're fast enough and know where to hit it will drop bigger than you've got. Which is it?"

Pointing through the rails to where a number of cattle beasts stood the farmer said, "the one with the white...; Crack! went the rifle and his $4,000 white faced bull sank slowly to the ground. The most expensive dog tucker the area had ever seen.....spot on it's side." finished the farmer lamely. Tun Waite had done it again.
